A remarkable century of opposites—reason vs. emotion; religion vs. science; individual rights vs. traditional social hierarchy—the 18th century was a great age of portraits, still-lifes, and landscapes. This course will trace the many ideas that underlie the diverse artistic expression of a century that is justly called the dawn of the modern age.